

WATER EFFICIENCY EVERYWHERE

Please join us for a call with the management of Lime Energy on Jan. 14th

While energy is the resource most often associated with the terms "efficiency" and "conservation," water is very quickly gaining attention given its increasing scarcity and expense.

Gain valuable insights into trends in the evolving water efficiency/conservation market in our virtual roundtable discussion with Mr. Jim Smith and Mr. Lucas Wood of Lime Energy (NASDAQ: LIME). Jim Smith is a leading industry expert and President of Lime Energy's Public Sector and Regional Construction Division. Mr. Smith has over 20 years of energy efficiency and conservation experience and will discuss trends, economics, markets and new products as it relates to water conservation. Lucas Wood an experienced provider of water conservation solutions and current national solutions developer and manager of Lime Energy's water conservation projects in the Public Sector Division.

Our "virtual roundtable" discussion will focus on water efficiency conservation vs. LEED or sustainable design practices.
